THE ONLY SOLUTION FOR INNOVATIVE AND TRULY INTEGRATED E-COMMERCE!

By allowing you to automate your business processes and connecting each of your different departments, 3ex.net reduces the resources, time and costs required to run your business, allowing you time to focus on taking your business to another level, or perhaps just giving you your life back.

Implementing our software will rationalise your business processes and maximise your potential. It unites people, departments and disparate processes to create a more seamless working style. If you're the proverbial busy fool, someone who seems to work long hours for comparatively small return, then why not free yourself, your time and your money and take a look at 3ex.net?

Working with 3ex.net, you'll learn intuitively because it has been built to be quick and easy to use. It is also truly scalable, proven to handle anything from 5 to 50,000+ orders per day, so don't worry, you won't have to seek a new supplier when sales start to boom. Flexibility is key and our team of analysts can design, create and edit the user interface and tweak business logic to reflect the evolution of your business and processes.

3ex.net is made up of six modules; Supply Chain Management, Stock Control, Customer Relationship Management (CRM), Financials, E-commerce and Marketing. More detailed information on each of these modules is available upon request.

The 'Killerapp'

Our designers and developers were briefed to create solutions which would save users time. The result is an application which is easy to use, intuitive, innovative and practical with an array of functionality which will ultimately ease your working life. Why else would you buy a new software product?

3ex.net comprises a range of features to optimise your business processes, these include:

Parcel and Packaging Optimisation

Carrier Optimisation

Intelligent Picking Engine

Campaign Planning & Integrated Forecasting

Integrated Payment Gateway

Integrated Financials

A Good Mixer

3ex.net functions with a variety of 3rd party products. Developed using Microsoft technology, it integrates well with their products and formats; Windows, SQL Server, Access, Word and Excel. It connects easily with external data sources and applications by using Web Services.

Future Proof

Longevity is of great importance when considering your new application. What you need to avoid is buying something which ultimately becomes a constraint to your business growth. Our technology uses a range of open tools and applications from Microsoft to ensure continuity. The flexibility of the product ensures that no matter which direction your business should take, we will have a solution to suit your needs.

Installation, Technology and Geek-Speak!

By now you know that we aim to keep life simple for you, but if you're interested in the technical stuff then read on.

You can host 3ex.net on or offsite – it can be licensed and installed on standard Windows Server infrastructure, or, Exact Abacus can host for you as a subscription service. Either way, the cost structure is based on the software modules and number of concurrent users required.

Our three-layered application uses the latest database and programming technologies; intuitive, scalable and robust!

3ex.net data is stored and managed by MS SQL Server 2008, utilising SQL Reporting Services and SQL Analysis Services. Data interfaces and migrations are managed using SQL Integration Services.

All business logic and presentation of the client interface is controlled by Web services. This is also used to integrate 3ex.net with external applications and data sources.

Running on any Windows device, the Client Application is easy to use and quick to navigate. It can operate from any location provided the device can connect to the web service.
